

requirement is not be considered a qualified individual with a disability as long as this employer can demonstrate that this particular requirement is an essential job function and that no reasonable

